

Manuela Roemer

My name is Manuela Roemer, a highly motivated grade eleven student from Dartmouth High School. I am currently in my third year of Junior Achievement, and it is an honour to be one of the hosts for this year's NS Business Hall of Fame.

My involvement in the J.A. Company Program has equipped me with essential skills such as leadership strategies, customer service techniques, and management skills, which are valuable both in and out of the business world. Last year, under our Nova Keychains Company, I was proud to receive the Morale Compass award and the Trade Fair for Highest Unit Sales, reflecting our team's hard work and dedication.

My passion for leadership, community engagement, and writing has also been recognized through various accolades, including the Principal's Award, the HRM Citizenship Award, and winning the 33rd Annual Ghost Story Writing competition held by the Public Libraries.

I aspire to work in marketing for the film and TV industry and hope to travel the world while doing so. Fluent in both English and Portuguese, I am passionate about languages and aim to learn more in the future, also integrating them into my work.

Junior Achievement has allowed me to explore my interest in marketing and provided numerous networking opportunities, helping me grow not just as an entrepreneur but also as an individual in the world.

Thank you,
Manuela
